

Tim Cato (ex Oaklands) will be hosting a 13 year old orphan Kenyan Rugby player as part of Reading Schools participation in this fantastic charity <http://www.abbeytouraid.com/>

These boys will be coming over here for the trip of a lifetime to visit the UK and play in a Rugby Festival. Obviously these boys come from impoverished backgrounds and put a high value on items, such as sports kits and clothes. As a host family we would like to collect some good quality, second- (or first-) hand items to send back to Kenya with the boys. This would include good quality sports tops, shorts, sports boots, sports equipment (shin pads), regular clothes, 'transportable' toys, bags or suitcases as well as donated corporate gift items such as pens, calculators, chalk, notepads, water bottles and more. This could be for boys and girls of any age as they will all be put to good use in their orphanage. If you have time to have a 'sort out', and find anything suitable, please bring in your items to the school office labelled 'Kenya Touraid', between Tuesday 11th March and Wednesday 19th March and the Catos will ensure they go back to Kenya.
