Dear Parents/Guardians – and children!

The new homework grid has been well-received by most pupils and parents, however there is still a problem with a small minority who fail to complete their set weekly homework of maths, spellings, reading and chosen grid task either on time or to the expected standard. As you are aware, since September there has been a new procedure in place to ensure fairness throughout the school:

- Each class teacher records the name of any pupil who has not handed in their homework on time on a central register.
- The teaching staff take it in turns to supervise a Homework Detention for all named pupils during Wednesday lunchtime.
- Any named pupil who is absent on Wednesday, or still has not completed their tasks, will attend during Friday lunchtime.
- A letter alerting parents will be sent home after two Homework Detentions.

Research has found that greater parental involvement leads to better outcomes; please continue to support your child to achieve their potential.

Thank you in advance for your co-operation.

Yours faithfully,
